short films by erich hörtnagl

Public Secrecies is a series of three to six minutes short films with independent episodes on a common theme:

Gestures of love and falling in love, that bear witness to affection, consideration and sympathy out in the open, in the public eye, in different places in Europe.

Regardless of age, everywhere in the world there are couples, people, who like each other, who feel the need to bring their relationships out into the open, into the public eye. To give their joy some form of public manifestation. To a greater or lesser degree openly, to a greater or lesser degree spontaneously, to a greater or lesser degree provocatively, to a greater or lesser degree carefully.

Using an impressionist visual medium, for a multi-cultural Europe, the Public Secrecies series depicts the silent (in part at least) language of love, that with its all conquering power unites multiplicity and difference as well as contrast.
